MALE CALL

Nasty Mick Made Me Famous

I wanted to thank you for putting my photos of "Nasty Mick" on the cover of Drummer Tough Customers #10. You were also kind enough to feature my work in an ad in International Drummer a few issues back (#181).

Since then, I have had several offers to photograph some really hot men, and to submit those photos to various rubber and leather publications. I know this is a direct result of my photographs being in your publications. I'm very grateful to you. After all, I feel I got my start or first break with you and I am definitely continuing on this new career path. Thank you so much guys.

Kenn,
Seattle, WA 98102

Ed. If you have photographs send them our way. You too could end up on the pages of International Drummer.

Rage Uncaged

I really enjoyed the photo of Dylan Rage in the feature "Caged Rage" (#183). How about showing us a photo of him without his mask?

Anonymous

Ed. These photos of Dylan Rage are from Close Up Productions "The Watering Hole."

Cell Doors Slammed on Pornography

Effective March 10, 1995, Warden John K. Hallohan, of the Arizona State Prison Complex Douglas, enacted the following policy: "The following items will be considered contraband, per the Arizona Department of Corrections Policy 302.4: 4.2.1 Any item or obscenity as determined by the Warden, or designee. 4.2.2 Any publication which depicts any homosexual acts, pictures or drawings of any penetration, erections, or any sexual acts involving children under the age of 18, violence or animals will be considered contraband and not allowed within the prison grounds."

Under the approval of Warden Hallohan and the above policy, the designee, Major Branom, Arizona State Prison Complex Douglas-Complex Mail and Property, is contrabanding and returning publications to publishers.

I have researched this matter in the prison law library and have come to this conclusion. If you do not uphold your right to send incarcerated individuals your publication, then the incarcerated individuals will lose their right to receive it. This policy is a bold attempt on Warden Hallohan's part at censorship and 4.2.1 of the ADC policy is giving him a broad range of power. Because incarcerated individuals have few rights, we will not win this war against censorship. But if publishers assert their right to mail incarcerated individuals their publications, the incarcerated individual will therefore have the right to receive it. I respectfully ask that you do what you can to protect your rights and, in turn, protect our rights. Without you we have no right to receive your publication. I do not know what you can do, but any help in this matter will be appreciated.

Name Withheld

Ed. Anyone wishing to protest the policies at the Arizona State Prison Complex Douglas should address their concerns to: Warden John K. Hallohan, A.S.P.C. Douglas, PO Drawer 3867, Douglas, AZ 85608-3867.

Beefy Bears and Cowboys

First, let me tell you that I've been reading Drummer for about 8 years, and I really enjoy your magazine. When it arrives every month by mail, Drummer still makes me feel like a kid. As I'm always anxious to check out the new spread, fetish feature, stories and, of course, the personals. Aside from being one-handed reading at its best, it always manages to spark curiosity in me.

I also share the excitement of illustrator Jorge Manso (#183) whose artwork was published in your magazine. If it involves beefy bear/cowboy types and a bit of kink or excessive testosterone, he can illustrate it in graphic detail!

Love Those Ears

This note is to tell you that Cliff Parker (#180) has to be the sexiest guy I have seen in some time. But it isn't his hairy chest or his cut dick that excited me. It's his damn ears! Don't ask me to explain but men with ears like that really turn me on. Thanks for a great photospread!

Hormonal Heaven. Or Is It Hell?

BY DYRK (A.K.A. DICK BRAIN)

BIG MEAT FROM BULLWHIP'S ANOTHER MAN'S PLEASURE

Spring is in the air, the scent of flowers in bloom, and sap rising is a joyous time for many people. For me it is a study in how many ways I can get my cock sucked in the shortest amount of time possible while still managing the allergy attacks.

So there I was with a pile of videos and books, sunshiny days and randier than my editor could guess. Who wants to take notes with a cock in one hand and a monster dildo up their pooper anyway? So forgive me if the reviews are less detailed than the others I have given.

Bullwhip Video's Another Man's Pleasure, which is the sequel to One Man's Poison is partially to blame for my worked up condition. In spite of my raging hormones, my discriminating good taste can see an excellent value from a long way cuming. And that is just what I did several times with this Hot House Entertainment release.

They got my attention right off the bat when Doug Perry and new comer Reece Kennedy engaged in a wrestling romp (that was more engaging than wrestling). But don't think the beautiful big bat of Perry needed to do anything more than knock to get into Kennedy's steamy dark hole. Then there was the giant rope that made their sensual struggle all the more sinuous and sexy....

Even before I could find an old sock to wipe up the mess, I was confronted with a bigger dilemma. I couldn't decide whether I wanted Mick Nichols' beautiful big dick up my ass or to plunge my sprouting woody into the depths of Peter Bishop's hot-looking butt. Who cares about ambiance, like firesides and big pillows, when you have the butt-pounding action these two provide.

Talk about action, can you guess what the mattress police will do if they catch you violating your bed's rights? Well, officer Doug Forbes sentences the boy from down under to some community service, starting with keeping Forbes' fuck-stick off the streets and between the cheeks. My favorite scene was the begging Rick Drake gives as Forbes nearly fucks him a new hole first with his tongue then his fist and finally with his cock (how are they minimizing the rubbers - I love it!!)

In the next scene, Hot House exclusive Stephan Bertoli and Alex Stone work over Steve Marks from all ends. Of course you may not recognize Stone because his face is always buried in one butt or another (if sex sounds turn your trigger, you'll appreciate the slurping and sucking Stone manages to project to a hidden microphone). Good sex and studly men make this slightly kinky fuck flick a fun fantasy for everyone (except Granny and Buffy).

Preying on the Pigs

Falcon does it again with two of their latest releases, The Backroom and, from their international series, The Plowboys.

The Backroom is hot leather sex sans SM. But after you see it, tell me that there isn't a sadistic bastard in the Falcon studios denying me the pleasures of hairy blond Ken Ryker or smooth muscled Hal Rockland. Oh yeah, did I mention super studs Trent Reed (a two time Drummer cover man), Casey Jordan, Aiden Shaw, Mac Reynolds, Josh Powell, Sean Diamond,

AIDEN SHAW GETS IT READY FOR A GOOD POUNDING IN BACKROOM

Jeff Austin and J.T. Sloan also grace the screen with their hard writhing bodies and beautiful male members?

The Backroom story line revolves around Jordan's homecoming to San Francisco and his re-acquaintance with Rockland that skips the formality of chit chat and gets down and dirty. Rockland tells Jordan about one of the dance club backrooms that sees some intimate action the go-go boys are straining to get into — like Sean Diamond.

Diamond does a modeling session for super-cock Shaw, who asks him why he is concerned about being invited into the backroom when he has plenty to keep his poop chute lubed and probed right there at home. The last few scenes center around Ryker's privilege of choosing who he invites into the club backroom for some slamming from his 13" salami. First there is Sloan and Powell who connect and want in. They don't get a full taste of all the backroom has to offer, but they both savor the sausage Ryker fills them with from both ends. Later, our homeboy Jordan gets his chance as he lays on an oversized whirligig and spins on three of the best cocks in porn — Reed, Reynolds and, of course, Ryker. This is the hottest scene from Falcon yet.

Half way across the world in eastern Europe, there are no backrooms needed for the hired help on Uncle Igor's farm in The Plowboys. The beautiful rural setting conjures an idyllic reality for the youthful boys who spend their summer working on the farm.

Work is a term open to interpretation by anyone as the milking boy gets seduced by a huge uncut cock that he can't even take in its entirety (I'd like to die trying). Then there is the young buck, bucking hay just prior to a fucking in the hay with another farmhand. All work and no play makes for dull boys so two sweet young things go on a little hike that ends in a ruined log structure with an exploration of each other's firm hairless bodies and yummy holes.

Finally the narrator, Uncle Igor's nephew, gets to work on that big boy who couldn't get enough out of his milking machine. The lucky lad gets a mouthful and a butt full that left me envious (and also left me happily satisfied).

In case these references are all it takes to make them an offer, the boys who plow are Martin Valko, Leo Husek, Johan Paulik, Alexander Straus, Emil Kys, Palo Cernak, Jiri Lubov, and Milos Janek. You may not be able to interview them due to the language barrier, but who cares!

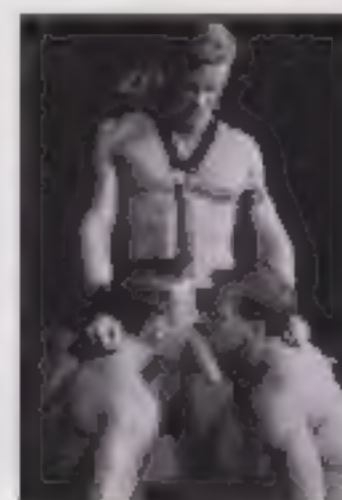

Eastern Delights

While we are touring the wonderful world of international sexcapades, let's make a pit stop in Japan where we discover some of the best illustrations we've seen in a while. In Jujitsu-Kyoshi, artist Gengoroh Tegame spins a silent tale of wanting and intrigue which speaks the international language of lust and made me want to call my travel agent post haste.

The erotic SM drawings tell a story about masculinity that will leave you wanting more than the Japanese obscenity laws will allow. The images of gushing cocks, brutally violated holes, and beautifully sculpted masculine forms create an unusual fantasy world. Call the G-Project at 03-3589-0297 to find out how to get a copy of this extra thick comic book. And remember this, I'm not loaning my copy to anybody for fear of sticky pages ruining my fantasies.

On your knees, boy!

I said, get down on your knees, boy! Good boy. Now, boy, I want you to take a pencil and fill out this order form for the all-new RoB catalog. I'm going to give you one minute in which to obey me, boy, and if you haven't filled out this order form perfectly, then you know what's going to happen boy? The New RoB Catalog!

Russo and Close-Up Productions bring a host of new videos with some interesting twists that are fun and sexy. For instance, in Horny Brothers Russo teams up with Vinnie Russo, Tony Gallo, Eric Hunter, and Stella Frame to bring us into a friendly family life where mom gives Donnie rubbers while brother Vinnie shows how to suck himself off.

First Donnie shows a friend the finer points of a good home workout and shaves his torso before fucking his face. The nipple clamps come out as the friend uses the work bench as a means of leverage to get a mouthful. Apparently the bed is a better place to play, but I lost my woody when mom comes in and gives a safe sex message just before pounding butt (can you remember when you were caught with your hands in your best friend's nookie jar?) The fuck scene that follows revitalizes the jizz factory.

In the bathroom, the brothers talk bullshit while they do their daily toiletries. That's where Vinnie shows his big brother how he sucks himself. His cock sucking skills are tried out as another house guest secretly jerks off in the doorway. The soap suds fly just like the jizz.

In Basket Balls, Russo's other flick du jour, we get to see hunks and stud-boys like Rob Cryston, Hank Hightower, Peter Bishop, Tanner Reeves, Troy Steel, and Donnie talk about their daily chores, such as the bank, their jobs, a jog in the park, and dinner. But don't let the dull dialogue discourage you. The testosterone levels will keep your dick hard and your spunk up.

— THE SENSUAL SPECTACLE OF BAD BRAD'S PISSED —

Bishop's butt of death (see my review of Another Man's Pleasure earlier in this column) is no match for the shower shot clean-out with smooth-muscled Cryston and a dark hairy hunk (I think it's Steel). I want to know how many times these guys really clean out BEFORE they squirt their power enemas. Enough of reality, the butt-pounding that blond boy Bishop endures from these two tasty studs made me envious as it made me work over an already spent dick.

The next major scene has two more rough-looking studs working each other over in a tender tête-à-tête. Both have that dark East Coast look that makes a redhead like me shudder with desire. They both have beautiful bodies and big thick tools that are good enough to eat, especially with a whole can of whipped cream sprayed everywhere. This inevitably leads to round two for the shower stall and the dick dunking with a buttful of unexpected enema juice.

— MILKING MORE THAN COWS — THE FLOWBOYS —

Y. N. F. M. ?

The reek of urine filled my imagination as the beer I just drank fueled my bladder. As I watched Bad Brad's Pissed, I was reminded of what happens when you combine accomplished artistry with a nasty libido.

Brad has a production style reminiscent of a Calvin Klein ad gone too far.

The many models are hard-bodied and the action wet. Laced throughout the montage of sensual shorts are water scenes that made my second-hand beer demand release even after I had soaked my sheets.

This is the perfect entertainment for the music video crowd with discriminating good taste (as I mentioned before — like me). ■

Crotch Talk

BY NORMAN GREENSTEIN, MD

SAFE COCK AND BALL TORTURE

I received a letter from a fan of cock-and-ball torture (CBT) who had questions about safety. What techniques are dangerous? What are warning signs of problems? How long can a cock ring or other genital bondage device be used? The letter also asked about practices such as twisting the scrotal sac, confining with cord, straps, clamps or other types of bindings, cock rings, stretchers, parachutes, weights, etc. Are there any techniques, he asks, which can be used continuously for long periods (hours or days) safely?

There are three basic rules for CBT safety: 1. Don't get into anything you can't get out of; 2. Make no sudden moves; and 3. Don't exceed the limits of either knowledge or endurance.

DON'T FORGET

There are many devices for compressing the penis and/or scrotum that are adjustable or removable under duress. These may be made of leather, cloth, metal or a combination. I strongly advise against using the type of cockring consisting of a simple metal ring.

Even if you have used such a ring without problems in the past, heavy play or accidents can cause enough genital swelling to trap the cock and balls in the ring.

The cock and balls are wonderful in their sensitivity, flexibility, and versatility. Because of the spongy structure of the limp or partly-hard dick and the loose mobile tissue of the scrotum, these parts can take quite a lot of compression without danger. It is pretty difficult to cut off the blood supply to either the cock or the balls because their blood supply is so rich; however, this also means accidents can produce truly spectacular swelling.

Michael M., a 35-year-old East Coast executive, learned this to his dismay after an exciting overnight scene involving getting kicked in the nuts several times with heavy boots while wearing a cheap metal cockring. His scrotum swelled "to the size of a basketball." He ended up in a neighborhood Catholic hospital explaining his plight to a nun in admitting. The emergency room doctor was successful in removing the ring with gobs of KY and brute force, all the while threatening to call the engineering department to have them bring a saw. Several years later, Michael still has painful scarring near one testicle.

Pressure, application of slowly increasing weights, slowly wrapping the shaft of the penis in constrictive wrapping, or slow application of ball stretching devices are unlikely to cause injury if the bottom does not exceed his personal limits. Both the penis and the scrotum can be injured by sudden blows or, in the case of the erect penis, sudden changes in position.

The cock consists of three spongy tubes arranged in a lengthwise triangle. The two corpora cavernosa are side-by-side in the upper part of the penis. They contain a large amount of stretchy fibrous tissue and loose vein tissue around a core containing a medium-sized artery. When erect, the vein tissue becomes engorged with trapped blood and the fibrous tissue becomes tightly stretched. Suddenly jerking the penis to the side with force or forcibly bending it sideways can

"fracture" it, rupturing the loose veins and causing massive swelling, a bend to the side, and severe pain. This might happen with sudden sharp force on a leash attached to a penis bondage device. It is treatable only with ice packs and "tincture of time." Some men with fractured penises scar and end up with a permanent bend in the dick. The corpus spongiosum is the third spongy tube of the penis, running along the underside of the penis and then enlarging to become the head of the penis, or glans. It is partly protected by the corpora cavernosa but is vulnerable in that it contains the urethra.

"Make no sudden moves" is even more important for the balls than for the cock. Testicles are richly endowed with pain and pressure nerves. Squeezing them hard enough can cause severe pain with no accompanying injury. The testicles lie at the bottom of the scrotum (unless they are attempting to escape), the left lower than the right. To one side of each testicle and then going up into its respective spermatic cord is the epididymus, a tube which collects sperm from the testicle and carries it back to the prostate. Some tops find pressing or rubbing on the epididymus next to the testicle to be even more effective and interesting than squeezing the testicles, and this is safe too.

Heavy pressure, such as stepping on the nuts with a whole boot at once, is safer than kicking with a toe, striking with a narrow stick, etc., since these have a very high-pressure impact and can rupture vessels; when tight cock rings, ball stretchers or scrotal bondage are used at the same time the swelling will be much faster and more severe because these items increase the pressure in the ruptured vessel.

How much weight can a single pair of testicles safely tolerate? I don't know. In DungeonMaster 44, Fledermaus reports a ball-weight lift contest at Inferno in which there was a three-way tie for first place: all three men lifting 83 lbs. The testicles hang in the scrotum from the spermatic cord, which is a combination of the blood and lymph vessels, nerves, and fibrous tissue; the cord is normally not under tension. They are not anchored in a particular place: the various components come from their origins in the abdomen, come together at the beginning of the inguinal canal, go through the canal and then go down the scrotum to the testicles. If a heavy weight were attached to a parachute, for example, and then let go suddenly, the sudden jerking could cause major injury—nerve damage, severe bleeding in the scrotum or abdomen, etc. Yet slow increase of pressure, especially if the scrotum is warm and relaxed, can result in toleration of an amazing amount of weight. Easy does it.

KNOW YOUR LIMITS

One of the reasons CBT scenes are heavy is that we are socialized to invest our genitals with so much emotional baggage and so much of our masculinity. Some bottoms, in particular, become convinced their great worth to their top is in how much pain and torment their cocks and balls can take, to the point of failing to tell their top information he needs to protect their safety. If you have had problems in the past with severe testicular swelling, if increasing weights on the scrotum causes a severe change in your pain level, or if anything else feels "not right," by all means speak up. It is not worth risking emergency surgery just to impress someone.

The warning signs of problems during a scene include numbness, tingling, coldness or blueness. These are most likely to occur during use of tight cords around the nuts or tight ball stretchers. Simple cock rings which are not solid rings, which do not pinch the loose skin of the scrotum, and which are loose enough to slide a finger under, are probably safe to wear for prolonged periods although it is wise to take them off for a few hours out of every 24. Anything which causes visible blueness of the skin, coldness or loss of feeling should be left on for no more than 10 or 15 minutes once these problems start.

The scrotal sac may be twisted one half to one turn, 180 to 360 degrees, but no more. The safest way to do this is with a hand; it should not be twisted and then tied. Weights should not be hung from the scrotal skin itself; the weight must be distributed evenly over the upper part of the balls to minimize injury to the spermatic cord. About the safest way to do this is with a parachute or a ballstretcher with rings, which distributes the weight while preventing one testicle from suddenly popping upwards and causing the weight to jerk downwards on the other cord. It is prudent to start with small weights, such as one or two rubber balls, for a few minutes and increase as tolerated.

The safest places to use clamps are on the head of the penis or on the loose skin of the foreskin or scrotum; it is inadvisable to hang weights from these. If clamps are used on the cock shaft it is best to avoid the underside, or corpus spongiosum, to protect the urethra. The safest types of clamping devices for the testicles are those which compress both testicles simultaneously while preventing them from moving suddenly in the scrotal sac. Compression devices with larger surface areas are safer than smaller clamping devices.

THING GOES WRONG?

You've been careful but you've overstepped your limits and have now discovered this after a heavy scene. Sometimes even a doctor can't tell, for sure if an injury is serious just by looking and feeling. And sometimes delayed complications can develop—if you get unexplained pain or swelling after a scene go get checked out. It's much better to risk embarrassment than to risk losing one of your balls. 1

Spotlight on DADDY'S

Philip Turner, San Francisco's Leather Daddy II, announced he will open Daddy's, a new lew and leather bar on Castro Street located in the heart of the city's gay district. Turner told International Drummer the new club will be operating in time for this summer's tourist season. Among the festivities planned at Daddy's this summer is a Drummer Tough Customers party. Turner says a schedule of events and dates will be announced later this month.

RYAN JOHNSON, MR. VULCAN RUBBER '94

a life transformed by latex

I'm a Clark Kent kind of guy. Quiet, unassuming, shy. Not unattractive, but unobtrusive. In my weekday business suit you'd probably never notice me. But in my closet hangs the key to my true identity, rubber! A dash of talcum powder, 5 seconds to put it on (well, okay, maybe a half hour), a spritz of Black Beauty, a final coat of silicone spray, and I emerge as Rubber Man!

Thus transformed by a shining layer of body-molding black latex, I stride down the street with confident gait and into the Chicago Eagle, the Manhole, or the Vortex. Somehow my shoulders are broader. I stand taller. My smile is quick and sure. My eyes shine with assurance and twinkle with allure. An aura of uninhibited sex surrounds me like a levitating bubble. I am a rubber demi-god, fulfilled, vibrant, invincible. Somehow this tight, shiny substance encasing my body summons up all my strengths and the fullness of my personality. I feel downright handsome and desirable.

The development of my rubber feush goes back to good old Mom (doesn't it always). She routinely layered a thick, white rubber sheet between the cotton sheet and the mattress of my crib lest my diapers leak during the night. Well, during the first year of my life not only was the mattress rescued from my baby piss, but the aroma of that rubber sheet was indelibly imbedded on my brain, incorporated into my essential psyche.

At the age of four the rubber sheet became my Superman's cape. I flew around an imaginary Metropolis defending truth, justice, the American way. The cool, clammy sheet against my back and bare shoulders fueled feelings of invincibility and strength. A year or so later I discovered comic books. The Flash quickly became my idol and patron saint: that red suit just had to be made of rubber. It clung to his body as nothing else could, defining every sculpted muscle. The tight, red hood and mask gripping a beautifully shaped head and thick neck. I remember rubbing the nondescript bulge in his crotch. There was power in that mound. I wanted to lick it.

Everyone at the Chicago Eagle knows me as the Rubber Man. I have two full-body cat suits, two pairs of jeans, one pair of tights, one surfer suit, one trisuit, four pairs of shorts, six shirts, three pairs of gloves of varying lengths, suit, four pairs of shorts, six shirts, three pairs of gloves of varying lengths, two hoods, one thong, and one pair of socks, all made of latex. There's also a wetsuit, a chemical suit, three pilot's rubberized anti-exposure suits, wading boots, rubber riding boots, pressurized boots, chemical gloves, linesman gloves, anti-G chaps, partial-pressure suits, eight gas masks, four pilot's oxygen masks, two full-pressure helmets, rubber belts, arm bands, wristbands, collars, cock rings, harnesses, rolls of rubber strips, a rubber sheet, and a rubber rope.

Yeah, I'm a complete rubber freak, and proud of it. I relish my rubber like some people enjoy a pipe and tobacco or a box of chocolates. Eventually I'll wear rubber to work, to the gym, to the opera, to dinner parties, family reunions, everywhere. The rest of the world will get used to my constant hard-on outlined and framed by rubber. I'll retire to a seaside community and spend my days in a beach chair watching men in rubber suits go scuba diving, sail boarding, and water skiing. At night I'll curl up in my rubber sheets with my rubber mate and we'll hump ourselves to another peaceful night of rubber dreams.

rubber at sex parties

For raunch scenes involving sweat, shit, and mud, rubber is peerless. Rubber is also heaven for piss pigs. A daddy may wear rubber shorts with a penis sheath and joyously empty his bladder through a tube connected to the mouth of his boy's rubber hood. At parties, rubber wading boots abound. Sometimes guys don several layers of waders. A good time is evidenced by the amount of liquid poured from one's boots.

One of the simplest, yet most common ways rubber men enjoy each other is by groping, caressing, rubbing, and humping each other. Lubed and primed by voluminous amounts of pre-cum, sweat, and piss inside their rubber, they are urged on by the flexible tautness of their second skins, heightened by the smell of rubber and manhood, they ride each other until they safely come, gasping noisily through their hoods and masks.

For breath control games, rubber hoods, oxygen masks, and gas masks have few equals. Want your bottom to pay attention? Remove his ability to breathe freely. He's instantly focused on your every movement. Sometimes you'll see men at rubber parties wearing hoods connected by a hose, sending their breath back and forth for each other to breathe. Sharing the dizziness of oxygen-deprived air is an incredible high. Rubber hoods and masks also provide the most efficient delivery possible for poppers or other inhalants of choice. Fuck! the simple sound of a rubber gasket rasping open and shut is enough to get some rubber men off. Breathing control is extremely popular in industrial rubber scenes.

A vibrator becomes an instrument of exquisite torture when coupled with a rubber body bag - and a little water-based lube. And the sound of rubber being hit has a crack all its own. Silent adoration also occurs; imagine being entirely encased in rubber, standing quiet, your body caressed and worshipped by the tongue of a rubber admirer.

Although not new, carrying on outdoors in carefully created mud puddles is happening more frequently. Guys roll and wallow in their rubber togs like happy pigs while sloshing around and mucking through the bogs and plant clubs with a history of stretching the sexual limit

Rubber has moved beyond the gay men's culture and the SM scene to become a major competitor for fashion - and fantasy. But, like many fashions - and fetishes - it's roots were within the gay male imagination. While many fancy this as a brand new fetish, rubber has been a part of the gay sex scene for quite some time.

The Five Senses, first gay rubber club in the U.S., was founded on December 17, 1968, in New York City. This group of randy rubber men, dubbed the V Senses, was brought together by Elliott Howard and his partner Bud Herr. The club enjoyed a robust, albeit brief, existence. Weekend trips to a secluded location in Bucks County, Pennsylvania were frequent. A glossy and reputedly handsome magazine, Inner Tube, was the club's newsletter, issued three or four times a year. Inner Tube was filled with hot member's photos, original stories, and World" was used to distinguish the group from RMC in the European "Old World." Rubber Sheets was the name of the club's newsletter. Though not as glossy as Inner Tube, Rubber Sheets had fabulous photos, horny stories, and a listing of club members which included their specific rubber interests. Rubber Sheets also provided an invaluable listing of rubber gear outlets which, although mostly from companies in England, included a few fledgling U.S. enterprises. Although the club eventually moved from San Diego to Port Townsend, Washington, it continues to sponsor a yearly NWKM event. It remains successful as a venue for rubber men to connect domestically and internationally.

Other clubs have come along recently including the Boston Rubber Club, founded by Wayne Goguen, and the Rubber Corps in San Francisco, founded by Tony Sanders. Last year, Backstreet in Provincetown premiered its First Male contest, with a bar full of hot rubber men. This year promises to be equally interesting with Rubberman '95 scheduled for the Boston Ramrod.

where sex sucks and hisses

I stand at the sink washing the outfit I wore last night to GUMMI, one of London's gay rubber clubs. I am removing sweat stains and piss from my personal ads. V Senses flourished and went on to establish chapters in London (later became the Rubber Men's Club) and San Diego. By late 1972 V Senses began to lose steam. The club disbanded in 1973.

In 1978, Dirk Dehner, co-founder of the Tom of Finland Foundation, placed an ad in The Advocate looking for men in the San Diego/Los Angeles area for rubber play parties. Numerous men responded and several informal gatherings ensued. As rubber fever continued to grow on the West Coast, the need for a more formal organization arose. Bill Bailey, who had been involved with the V Senses West of San Diego stepped in and continued to foster rubber play parties in California.

In 1979, the New World Rubber Men (NWRM) club was formed. The term "New chaps, t shirt and jock. Before GUMMI Club started up three years ago, guys wore rubber to a few of London's leather bars, or they belonged to the select, far from-public, Rubber Men's Club.

Although fashion-loving gay men have been clubbing around the London scene in designer rubber for years, it's only in the last few years that rubber's popularity has widened. This increased acceptance can be partially attributed to the hoards of new style queers and dykes who see rubber as a way of dressing that shows off the body's best features.

London's temperate climate also means rubber is a year-round fashion. And rubber is all about sex, sex, and more sex! It's a wet and wild scene where piss play runs rampant and heavy industrialized latex have sex amidst the sound of hissing and sucking cylinders. The hiss stack sound of air cylinders used by underwater divers is a common sound at rubber events. Not only skin-hugging wet suits abound, but baggy deep water gear too, complete with heavy head gear.

Although the gay men's rubber scene has been slow to develop into the bright color combinations which heterosexual rubber shops promote, what has taken off is the "combination" rubber item. These are produced by some of the new and established rubber designers. In the past, you could buy a one-piece ready-to-wear rubber suit or have one tailored to your size. But only recently can you easily find a one-piece suit complete with attached gas mask at one end and waders at the other.

Industrial protective gear is a further facet of London's rubber scene. Rubber gear of this type comes with reinforcements ranging from cotton linings to heavy metal soles and toe-caps. Gas masks feature strongly in this particular scene as well. At clubs, guys disappear inside their heavy rubber and atrial clothing, some complete with breathing systems. There are tubes galore, some connected and some swinging free. Rubber men prow London's clubs re-enacting sinister sci-fi scenarios. Pipes and tubes get cross-connected and only those within these intimate scenes know what goes on amidst the plumbing. ■

GUMM

It was Friday. I was getting home from my dull job to my dull little apartment. At twenty, I was a quiet young man without direction or purpose. I didn't know if I was gay or straight, whether to go to college or not. I was bored with life.

I entered the apartment. As I turned to lock the door behind me, a man pushed open the door with one arm and stood there. He must have been right behind me, waiting for me to get home. "Hello, Daniel," he said tongue down. A large leather ball was slipped in, the attached straps secured behind my head.

I screamed, a muffled hoarse cry pumping up in my throat behind the gag. I tried to push myself up, jerking my arms forward. Metal cut coldly into my wrists, holding them together. I kicked out, hoping to hit the wall. My downstairs neighbor might investigate the thump, but then I remembered, he was gone for the weekend. Bound and gagged, I laced tight it behind my head, painfully pulling bits of hair in it. At once my environment changed; absolute darkness and all sound was muffled, like listening to a sea shell. I could hear the blood pumping in my ears, as my racing heart carried adrenaline throughout my body.

I was cut off, helpless and alone. The only person who knew I was here was my assailant. I was completely dependent on this man for my life. Panic set in, my breath grew with a strange smile.

He wore a black leather mask which covered his whole head. Only the nose and jaw were exposed with wide eye holes in the cheek flaps. His beard was blond like mine but fuller and peppered with gray. He was about my size and height, but his black boots made him taller and he was far more muscular. His eyes froze me to the spot: a rich earthy brown with dark blond lashes framed with the distinguished wrinkles of age. I was so startled I didn't notice he was holding handcuffs.

He quickly shoved me inside and slammed the door in one fluid movement. He grabbed me, kicked my feet out from under me, flipped me over as he lowered me to the carpet. I felt pressure on my back even as I thought to struggle.

He was knelt on me, jerked my arms back together. With a snap, the cuffs were on. He grabbed my hair and pulled my head back. I finally realized what was happening - I was in real trouble! I opened my mouth to yell and his finger pushed my was cut off from the world just beyond my door.

I stiffened and locked my knees, preparing to roll over and throw him off. He expected that and jabbed at a point behind both my knees unlocking them and grabbed my feet. He pulled my legs up, slamming my heels into my palms behind me, and used something to lace my ankles together and attached them to the cuffs.

He shifted his weight, the pressure on me eased. I kicked, instinctively trying to throw off the things that bound me. Fire ripped at my wrists as metal cut into the tender skin over the bone. I felt I'd almost pulled my hands off. The searing pain released another scream but it stayed trapped behind the firm ball.

Suddenly, pressure slid around my head and my eyesight was cut off. He was putting a hood on me! The gag straps twisted cruelly on my cheeks as my entire head was engulfed with the tight fitting hide. The tiny mouth and nose holes filtered my air with musky leather. He rapid. I thought I was going to die.

Then I sensed him next to me, close to my head. I felt his weight along side me, the warmth of his body, his breathing next to my ear. "Don't worry. You will be all right," his voice was calm and caring, not menacing. He stroked my neck, his touch was soft and warm. "I will take care of you, but you must do everything I tell you. What is about to happen is very important. I am going to leave you now for a few minutes while I get my bag."

In my hand I felt his. He squeezed it gently, leaving it there for several seconds. I didn't respond. I could only pant, tasting the fear on my breath. He got up and moved off. I heard the door just beyond me open. It sounded far off through the hood.

Inside my new world, every second seemed so long - I don't know how much time passed. The hood was so tight around my neck I thought it would affect my breathing and the straps cut into my cheeks. My wrists throbbed and I wondered if they were bleeding.

HE RAPED ME.
VIOLATED ME
AGAINST MY WILL,
BUT I DISCOVERED
A WHOLE NEW WORLD
BECAUSE OF IT.

Then he was back. The thump on the floor next to me must have been the bag. I heard the clinks of metal inside. Again, I sensed him lay down next to me and I waited. There was a touch on my head and I jerked. He was petting me, stroking the hood, the creaking of the leather filling my ears. He did this many times in silence. When he spoke, his mouth was right next to my ear; "I am going to take you on a journey," he said, "a journey of sensations. You will come out at the end if you remember two things: do everything I tell you and always call me 'Sir'. That is all you have to remember."

He got up and moved around me to the bag. I listened to him get many things out. He flipped me over and I lay on my arms and legs. They started to hurt. Most of my weight was on my toes as they crushed into the carpet. My heels jammed against my hands shoving the cuffs into my back. I squirmed to get comfortable but I couldn't. I started to whimper.

Then, right at my Adam's apple, something cool. Metal. Oh, my god, it was a knife!

"Please" I pleaded, trying to push that big, impeding gag out of the way so he could understand I was begging. I cried, I trembled. "Please, please don't hurt me." My words were soft and muted.

He gathered up my tee shirt with one hand, pulling it tight, and punched the tip of the knife through the cotton. I could feel it stop just over my skin. I forgot all other sensations. The focus of my being was at the tip of that knife. I imagined it in my mind as it plowed my chest, effortlessly slicing bushy curls of sandy blond hair. I held my breath as it stopped over my stomach, fearing if I inhaled and my gut touched the tip, it would pop like a balloon. Then, in a flash, he cut through both shoulders and my shirt fell away, exposing my moist, trembling chest to the suddenly cold air.

He must have sat back because it seemed he was gone, but I knew he wasn't. He put his hand on my stomach. I tightened, my anus clenching. He just rested it there, outstretched, like feeling the pulse of some animal before butchering it. I tried to pull away from his touch, to sink into the floor. Then I was aware of the heat from his hand, it filled me and warmed my gut. My body started to relax. It would have felt good if I not been so afraid. Above me, he made a soft little sound in his throat, like a sigh. I knew he was looking at my face. When he removed his hand, cool air swirled in to replace it.

When I felt him again, he was at my buckle. He undid it and ripped my zipper open, yanking my pants down and cut the waistband of my underwear. The tugging jerked my aching limbs. He picked up my drawn cock and balls and held them up away from my body. I arched up, trying to reduce the distance. Around the base he started wrapping something like string, but thicker and more square. It pulled tight like a tourniquet, trapping the blood in my dick. Then he wound it around my sack, stacking the strands, forming a tube. With each wrap, my balls grew tighter as they were pulled away, pinching and plucking my hairs.

My dick started to throb. I'd never felt this sensation before. It didn't really hurt but I was terrified the pressure would burst the gorged veins. Then he dropped my balls to bounce against my thighs. They stuck out at the end of the tube, so far away from my body, sensitive to the slightest air current.

He rolled me over again, making sure I didn't crush my balls, and used the knife to finish cutting off my pants and even my shoes. I was completely naked before this man. Hog-tied, gagged, and blinded. The hood made me feel like I was in another room. My body seemed a memory but its pain screamed in my head.

This time he went away. I heard him moving about my apartment. I strained my ears to hear and suddenly the sound of hammering filled them. He was attaching something to the living room wall. He knew my downstairs neighbor wasn't around to hear! He knew all about me - when I got home, where the hammer was, even what weekend to do it! How long had he been watching me, planning this? My panic rose as the questions rolled around my leather-scented darkness. Then the cold trail of the knife's touch at my neck rippled down my spine. I almost pissed myself.

"I am going to untie your feet and stand you up. Do not make sudden movements. Do you understand?" His tone had changed, cold and firm, not soft like before. "Yes," I squeaked, afraid of the knife. Suddenly the side of my head exploded in sound and pain as he hit me hard.

"I told you to address me as 'Sir' I will not tell you again. Do you understand?" "Yes, Sir!" I cried out from behind the gag, my voice trembling.

He undid my feet and help me get up, guiding me to take several steps backwards until I bumped the wall. He reached around, undoing the cuffs and stretched one arm up, fastening it into a soft restraint nailed to the wall. He bound my other arm similarly then forced my feet far apart and secured them to restraints on either side of a heavy pole. I was spread-eagle on the wall.

He ran his hands all over my body, then, holding my aching balls, he put his mouth to mine and kissed me through the hood. His grip tightened as his breath blew into me. I squirmed but he firmly held me. Finally, he stepped back.

"I'm going to introduce you to the power of pain." He spoke sharply. "I will be hard on you, but I will also be good to you. You must be obedient to me. Do you understand?"

I wanted to beg, to ask, to demand what he wanted of me. What must I do to be free of him and his pain? Why won't he have mercy and spare me? But I was too afraid my resistance would enrage him enough to hit me - and not stop.

He asked again, slowly and firmly. "Do you understand?" I felt him move closer. I quickly responded: "Yes Sir!" I said no more, tensing for a blow. It became clear to me that begging would do no good. I had to go through this.

In my darkness I tried to focus on him as he stood silent. He took my face in his hands and said in low compassionate voice "I need you to know that on this journey I am your guide and protector. You will be safe with me. I understand exactly what you are feeling." He started as if to say more, but instead kissed me lightly, just brushing my parted lips with tenderness. He moved away but I thought I heard him whisper, as if to himself, "Trust me." He seemed concerned yet determined to put me through this. After long pause, he says "We will begin, now."

He lightly slapped me all over my body, warming me up, he informed me. The slaps got harder until I twitched and kicked, trying to get away. He held the bar down at my feet and I couldn't move. I kept hitting my head against the wall in my struggling until he put some kind of padding there - "I don't want you taking in pain I'm not inflicting," he explained.

Next, he attached things to me. The little bites on my flushed skin were clothes pins, he told me, each a burst of pain until muted by the next one. My skin felt pulled and stretched, like a hide drying on a rack. When he put them on my dick and balls, I screamed and jumped in my restraints, begging him to stop. He only held me against the wall telling me to flow with the pain. When he put them on my lips and in my nose, I was crying. Each time I tried to shake them off, they only wiggled, biting all over again.

When the overall pain was a dull throb, he started pulling them all off at once. It was like boiling water. I thought I was going to pass out. I screamed until was out of breath. Then he held and comforted me. I could feel his naked chest, hairy and warm. I wept, shaking up and down, telling him through my tears how much I hurt - to please stop. He didn't listen. He just quietly talked about endorphins and opiates and changing pain to pleasure. He lectured me. Control the pain and ride it to heightened states. I trembled in my agony, drenched in sweat and light-headed. He pulled away, I knew he wasn't finished.

He put weights on my balls, stretching them down tight. Then he tapped them with a slow, unending rhythm. Each tap was a drum beat, that sent white hot jabs to my gut. I tasted bile in my dry throat. He paused long enough to put clamps on, crushing my nipples - "to balance the pain," he said. He increased the tapping, talking calmly all the while. My struggling grew frenzied. When he stopped, it was just long enough for my nausea to subside.

There were many more sensations, and a lot more pain. It went on for hours or days - I couldn't tell which. Each time he would command me to take control of the pain - ride it, understand it, make it mine. He would shout over my screams, "Use the pain, don't focus on it, focus on where it takes you." All the while slapping, pulling or twisting some part of my body.

Each time I thought I could bear no more and hoped to pass out, he stopped and held me, whispering encouragement in my ear, stroking and kissing my afflicted parts. He was so firm, his hands caused such pain, yet his voice was so caring when he coached me through it. I came to fear each mountain of agony he brought me to but trusted he would get me through it, rewarding me with a hug and short rest period or drink of water.

Finally, he unshackled me from the wall. I was so exhausted and light-headed, I could only hang in his strong arms. He pulled me in, my head nuzzling his sweat matted chest. I could hear his heart beating with mine. I was so tired. I wanted to drift off and not fight the throbbing pain, just let it wash over me.

When he said it was time to begin acid exploding on my chest! Then he suddenly increased the weight pulling my genitals and fiery pain screamed up from my abdomen. The centers of pain merged and blended beyond focus. He increased his whipping pattern to a frenzy, no two lashes falling in the same place. They felt like serpents striking at my bones, searching for the last scraps of flesh.

Then I noticed I stopped screaming and sensed my eyes had rolled up. As engulfing me. The lash marks stung strongly - it was the salty sweat from his body burning into them. He was holding me - tightly, lovingly - muttering: "You did it! I knew you would! He held me for a long time. I listened to our breathing. The pain faded, but I was still dizzy and disoriented. It was a buzzing floating feeling, engulfed in his body heat. My skin tingled and throbbed with each blood pumping beat of my heart. It made a rhythm in my dark-the real work on my back, I went limp. All I could do was cry. I clung to him weakly, starting to slid down his torso. I knew I had to endure more for him. Strangely, something in me wanted to do it. He said I must be strong and he lifted me up into a position facing the wall. The clamps pressed into my chest like teeth, but I hardly noticed. I could only focus on the coming fire storm of pain ahead.

"I NEED YOU TO KNOW THAT ON THIS JOURNEY I AM YOUR GUIDE AND PROTECTOR..."

Whipping. He started slow and built up. The sound was brutal, each crack an explosion of pain. I pressed myself to the wall, wanting it to cover and protect me. The blows would come and I would scream, arch back, twist around, try to get free. He angrily told me this would go on longer unless I quit trying to escape the pain. "See through the pain," he urged, "see its energy, feel its power. Be one with it. Embrace it and let it carry you to new places." I had no choice, the pain storm had ripped away my mind. My only thoughts clung to his stream of words, his voice, like a life-line.

I was dimly aware he paused to pull off the tit clamps. It was like each rapid blow spanked air out of my lungs, more gasped in automatically, like a machine. I felt detached from my body, like I was floating in space. I was aware what was happening to my body, but I was not a part of it. Each nerve's pain message was a drop dumped in a growing pool. Fascinated, I studied my body, curious if it was all right. Then his words drifted to me from over an ocean of distance "ahead, look ahead." I knew now with absolute certainty I could trust this man to watch over my body. I turned my attention away from my body and peered forward, into myself. The pool of pain became a river that carried me inward through myself, and to another place.

I traveled ahead, approaching a glow in the distance. It grew and then I was before was some kind of place - a place with wondrous energy. I was so amazed and startled, I lost focus, like I stumbled. Immediately the glow dimmed, dwindling to nothing and I felt myself drawn back up into my body.

The pain cut back in, like a fire

ness - a kind of glowing, contented harmony. I was confused and elated the sensations washed me along and as long as he was holding me, I was not afraid.

He released me and we sat on the carpet for a long time. "Now you know how to get there" was all he whispered. I lay cuddled in his arms as he stroked me in silence. He didn't resist as I reached to feel his face. My fingers found tears in his eyes. He never removed my hood.

When he finally rose, he told me it was Sunday morning, time for him to go. He said he was proud of me - I learned quickly, as he knew I would. He packed up all his equipment, even he nails in the wall. I just sat and listened. Finally, I heard the door close. He was gone. It was over. It was hours later that I unlaced and removed the hood.

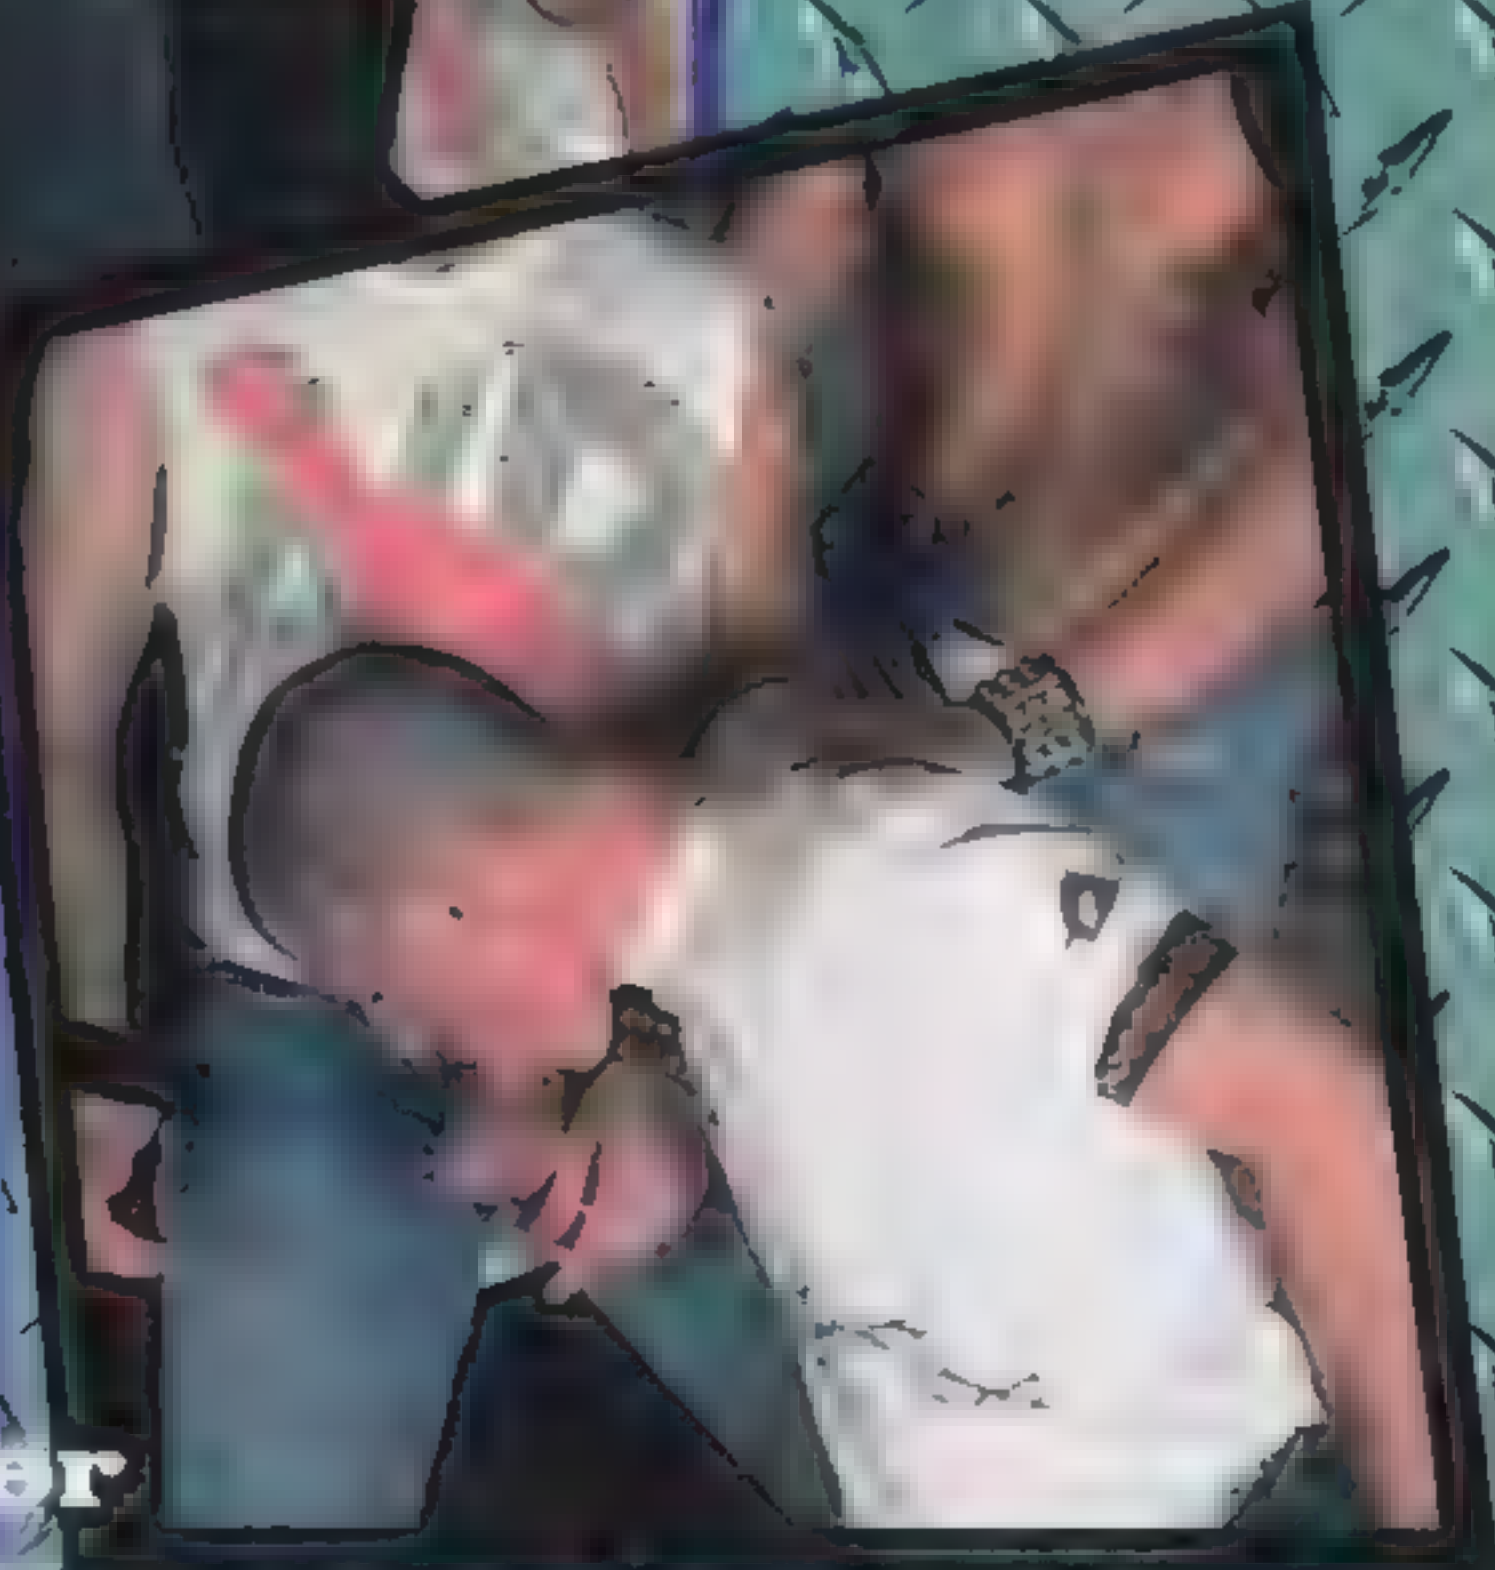

I had been raped - violated against my will, but discovered a whole new world for it. I sat on the couch and hugged the hood - my hood, now - to my sore, red welted body. I cried: tears of innocence, tears of joy. Tears of longing. ■

IS BLURRED IN THIS DUTCH PHOTOGRAPHER'S
IMAGES FOR ROB GALLERY

RENOWNED DUTCH PHOTOGRAPHER ERWIN OLAF makes no creative distinction between personal and commissioned work. Whether it's fashion, advertising, reportage or poster work, Olaf can be trusted to add his own indelible influence. In this advertising project for RoB Gallery, a chain of fetish stores in Amsterdam, London and San Francisco, Olaf creates what he calls, "staged realities." The results are tableaux which thrust models and merchandise into a hypermasculine, hypersexual underworld, a place where the boundaries of erotic art and advertising find surprisingly common ground.

The photos shown here are part of a series which appear in the RoB catalog. For those who want to see more, a glossy, black and white book, "Joy, The Photography of Erwin Olaf" offers a comprehensive look at the artist's major works dating back to 1984.

We decided to meet at my house so we could take one car. Kevin, Jeff, Halsey, Todd and I were set. Since it was just over the bridge and a mile down the road, forgetting something wasn't a problem. After arriving, we all sent Todd back for our sleeping bags. Already I was starting to think this night held promise. I had been blowing Kevin and Halsey, but the other two had proven completely oblivious to past overtures. I thought that maybe the three of us could do some manly persuading later on.

Todd arrived with our sleeping bags and a stolen bottle of Canadian Club from my father's bar. As we walked down the path, my eyes fell upon Todd's perfect butt.

I was at the back of the pack watching everyone lumbering over fallen trees, rocks, and small mud holes. Each of my friends bodies moved in their own certain style. Since I was following Todd, I can only tell you that the sight was most enjoyable.

Todd played football. He was a defensive lineman five feet, nine inches, about 180 pounds. His blond hair reminded me of those California surfer dudes. Everyone commented on how his tanned skin matched his brown eyes. Todd was big on working out. His perfect bubble butt was the result of serious lifting.

Todd's legs were a marvel to oggle. Most teenage guys build their chest up and seem to forget the legs. As I followed him, Todd's muscular legs and butt were becoming a distraction. I was tripping over rocks and tree limbs. I definitely wasn't looking at my feet. I was staring a hole into Todd's shorts. Hoping that I would see more of Todd's booty later on, I concentrated on not looking like an oaf and began to walk more carefully towards the campsite.

We settled for a place close to the river. That way, we could keep our precious beer cold under the running water. With the sleeping bags in place and our trusty picnic lean-to, we were ready to hang out. The sun was just beginning to set. The beauty of the glen at dusk was a ways one of my favorite sights. It could take your breath away. As I sat there contemplating life in general, Kevin came over and sat next to me. He handed me a beer and asked what I was doing "Where is everybody else?" I asked. Kevin went into this long explanation on how Todd was already throwing up. Todd had started right away into the Canadian Club, and before we were even done setting up camp, he was acting a little drunk. Todd drinks fast and gets drunk fast. Jeff and Halsey took him around the bend for a swim. I knew that once Todd went swimming he would sober up and join the party again.

Sitting close to Kevin always got me hard. Since I was occasionally having sex with him, the closeness was intoxicating. The first time I blew Kevin, I was amazed at the size of his dick. Not only was it very long but it was incredibly thick. It surprised me because Kevin actually had the smallest build of any of us. His balls were also a sight. Large and round and absolutely hairless. In fact, the only hair on Kevin's body was around his dick. To this day I've always wondered how I ever got his huge dick all the way down my throat.

Kevin put his hand on my crotch and gave a long squeeze. My first reaction was to try to kiss him but I hesitated too long. "We've got about a half hour before anyone comes back" he said. We were out of our clothes in no time. Having sixty-nined the last time with Kevin, I tried to get right into that position. With Kevin laying flat on the sleeping bag, I hovered over him ready to plunge at his dick. Right before I started to suck him off I felt his tongue on my asshole. It was like an electric shock had gone off inside my entire body. Kevin's tongue went crazy around my asshole while I went down on his ten inch dick Kevin must not have eaten for days, by the way he was slurping and chewing on my hole.

His tongue was aggressive. I could tell that Kevin was way to into this. I started grinding my ass up and down his face. "Eat my fucking ass Kevin, this is going to be your only meal tonight." I thought that sounded pretty hot; it got me going on Kevin's dick like a wildman. I was sex hungry. I didn't even care how many times I gagged on his dick. He was fucking my mouth like crazy. His dick was so thick, my mouth was feeling like I had been in the dentist's chair for hours. I didn't realize that could cum without actually jerking off. I started to tell Kevin that I was cumming. Kevin released his mouth grip on my hole, grabbed both my thighs and lifted me so my dick was about two inches from his mouth. I immediately shot all over his face. I thought I was taking a piss. The sensation lasted for a long time.

Kevin's face was covered from forehead to chin with little rivers of my spunk running off the sides of his face. Kevin lowered me a little and proceeded to smash his cum-soaked face back to my asshole. Now Kevin was getting ready to shoot his load. As I concentrated on not gagging and taking all his juice, Kevin started slapping my ass cheeks. The slaps were pretty hard. I could feel my ass cheeks start to burn. At the exact time Kevin slipped his finger into my butt, he came into my mouth. I know that I swallowed five times. Kevin just wasn't stopping. I hung in there and even managed to get about another inch of his dick down my throat.

The rest of the group came back as Kevin and I were just sitting back down with our beers. I was feeling the heady rush of pure sex and loving it. Todd was looking better after his swim. At least he was talking and making sense. I did notice, however, that he was just in his underwear. He was sporting a semi-hard on that looked quite impressive. I wanted to say something that would get the ball rolling into my own private fantasy orgy but Jeff spoke up and ruined the moment. "Where are the cigarettes?" Jeff asked. I reached into my sleeping bag and passed the Lucky Strikes.

Halsey had gathered some wood for our fire and we all chipped in to get the campfire ready for the night. I don't know what five horny guys talk about but my thoughts were elsewhere. I kept looking at Kevin, but he was playing that nonchalant act. Todd was getting pretty drunk again and Halsey was talking about his girlfriend. I did notice that Jeff had started to whittle a piece of wood while talking and joking. The piece of wood was pretty big and I was wondering why Jeff had picked this particular broken branch to whittle. As the fire was burning a steady red hue into everyone's face, I caught myself staring at him.

Jeff was, by far, the most handsome of the group. Dark brown wavy hair, crystal-cracked deep blue eyes. He was also the only one with a moustache. He was whittling fast. I watched the muscles in his arms move gracefully back and forth. I felt sensual. The whole gliding motion of Jeff's arm going up and down was turning me on.

I stared at the piece of wood and slowly realized that it was starting to look a lot like Kevin's dick. The bark had been all shaved off and there was a pretty big knot at the very end of the branch. I was feeling no pain so I just let it fly. "You know Jeff, that looks like Kevin's dick." I looked quickly at Kevin to see his reaction, but before he had time to register any response Todd chimed in. "You know you're right, it does look like Kevin's dick." There was this eerie silence that you only hear on school buses, when everyone stops talking at the same time.

"I'm not sure if it's bigger," Jeff said, putting the tip of the branch in his mouth, then sliding it out, "but Kevin's is much thicker." I sat there soaking all this in. I was just waiting for Halsey to chime in on another aspect of Kevin's dick. No response. So I asked him why he didn't say anything. Halsey let out a big sigh and said, "I think it's longer and thicker. Kevin's dick that is." Todd and Jeff decided at the same time to go piss. Out of the corner of my eye I saw Jeff crouch down and grab the extra lean-to rope as he walked away.

Like Halsey had any reason to be jealous. His six foot frame was muscular all over. Halsey was the hairiest of us all. His thick chest fur was fun to run your fingers through. I got an instant hard on whenever my eyes followed the line of hair from his navel to his uncut dick. The first time I blew him, he had to show me how to carefully peel down the foreskin and gently lick around the tip of his dick. He said it was more sensitive because it was covered most of the time. Halsey's dick was almost as long as Kevin's, but nowhere near as thick.

Jeff appeared out of nowhere and sat next to the three of us around the campfire. I noticed that he had returned without Todd. Jeff stirred up the fire and spoke to Kevin, "I'd say it's time we get started." Kevin immediately jumped from his spot and started taking off all his clothes. Jeff and Halsey were not far behind. "Come on David, your clothes, take them off," said Kevin. I needed no further prompting. In less than thirty seconds I was staring at my friends naked torsos. Jeff, Kevin, and Halsey started to play with themselves. Jeff's dick was thick, but short. What made his dick memorable was that the head of his dick looked like a huge mushroom cap. I was in heaven. All I could think of was that this was where I wanted to be for the rest of my life. Everyone commented on Kevin's piece but as I looked around at the other dicks, I realized that all our dicks were worthy of attention.

The three of them walked off towards the bend. I followed, thinking that we were all going for a swim. As we rounded the bend I noticed something on a big fallen tree. It was Todd. Jeff had tied his torso around this tree. Todd's hands were pulled around the tree limb and tied to his feet. The sight was almost too much to take. Todd had his underwear off and we all stood around staring at his exposed asshole. Todd's muscular legs were straining. Muscles I never knew legs had were undulating as Todd moved around. He appeared not to be struggling. It looked to me that Todd wanted to be tied up like this. His bubble butt was draped precisely over the middle of this fallen tree. His asshole was anybody's: open for business. Jeff licked his finger and poked it up Todd's ass. Todd squirmed but was making no noise. "Looks like we have a prisoner for the night guys," said Kevin. I was still looking at Jeff. His fingering technique had grown to three fingers up Todd's butt. "I can't take this waiting," said Kevin. He pulled Jeff's fingers out of Todd's asshole and just rammed his dick all the way in. Todd was pretty much gasping for air at this point. I blinked my eyes a few times just to make sure that I wasn't sleepwalking. Kevin was a wildman. His fucking was taking on a new dimension. He would pull his dick out to the point where you could see Todd's ass ring start to close. He'd spit on the tip of his dick and ram it back in, right up to his balls. Todd was moaning pretty loudly so Halsey knelt down on the leaves in front of Todd's face. One grab of Todd's hair and Halsey's dick was well into Todd's mouth.

I reached out and I could see the tip of his dick. We stood there staring at Todd's asshole...

The moans were now muffled. It wasn't like we had to worry about the noise around there. No one was around for a couple of miles. Kevin's fucking was looking like a blur and he was ready to cum. He pulled out of Todd's asshole just enough so that Jeff and I could see the tip of his dick. We stood there staring at Todd's asshole, which was looking pretty worked over. Kevin came right on the outside of Todd's ass ring. I was amazed at the volume considering we had just spent our first load about an hour earlier. Kevin's cum splashed all over Todd's ass and lower back. "I'm going to shoot you guys, watch this," said Halsey. We leaned over Todd's torso just in time to see Halsey pull his dick out of Todd's mouth and cum all over his face. Todd looked a dog trying to drinking from a hose. He wanted to drink Halsey's cum but Halsey was about one inch out of reach. Todd's face had spunk in his eyes, on his cheeks, all over his face.

We stood there and watched Todd's body relax. He was covered from head to toe with Kevin's and Halsey's cum. Before anyone spoke, Jeff grabbed his whittled stick and shoved it up Todd's ass. He let go of the stick and all I could think about was how could anyone's ass take this much abuse. Now Todd looked like he was just speared by a pole vaulter. Jeff slowly move the stick back and forth. He pulled the stick out and lowered his head to Todd's asshole. Jeff's tongue made a beeline to Todd's ass ring before it closed. Like someone running for an elevator, as the doors are closing, we watched Todd's ass clamp down onto Jeff's licking tongue. It looked like it was being sucked in like a vacuum. I thought that I was going to cum again without any assistance. I told myself to calm down and enjoy the sights and sounds of my buddies fucking each other.

Jeff was feasting on Todd's ass ring as Todd was trying to grind his butt up and down Jeff's face. Kevin looked at me and said, "Todd loves sucking dick, go fuck his mouth." I leaped over the tree and positioned myself on the ground right in front of Todd's face. I leaned forward to Todd's ear. "Are you alright?" I asked. Todd looked up at me and smiled. Halsey's cum was drying all over his face. The sight made me incredibly horny. I grabbed Todd's head and rammed my dick in his mouth so hard he gagged. What I lack in girth, I certainly make up in length. One lonely night, jerking off, I grabbed a ruler and measured eight and three quarter inches. I wasn't aware of Todd's discomfort and proceeded to keep my dick in the back of his throat, fucking like there was no tomorrow. It didn't take very long before I felt my balls churning. "I'm going to cum, guys." My voice was husky, it sounded pretty sexy to me.

Kevin leaped over the tree. "Slide back, he ordered me. "Let me in between you guys." I slid back and realized that Kevin's ass was firmly placed in Todd's face and Kevin was now blowing me. That was it, I exploded. Kevin gagged at the force in the back of his throat but he hung in there and started sucking me furiously. I almost fainted. I had never cum that hard in my life. I looked up and saw Jeff coming towards me. He was standing next to me, with his mushroom capped dick just inches away from my face. "I don't have to tell you what to do, do I?" said Jeff. I looked up to respond but all I got was Jeff's dick crammed into my mouth. He turned my head to the side and went to town on my face. He had his hands holding my head and he was pulling my head back and forth on his dick. Talk about living a dream. Jeff grumbled something, pushed his dick all the way down my throat, and came. I was swallowing like crazy as Jeff just kept pumping away.

Jeff then pulled out of my mouth, turned around, and started to take a piss. I listened to Jeff's stream of piss. It was a beer piss. I reached over, grabbed his hips, and spun him around. Before he knew what was going on, I was getting pissed on. Jeff didn't move away. Actually, he moved closer and sprayed me from head to toe. As I closed my eyes, I noticed Kevin and Halsey untying Todd. I felt the warm liquid run off my shoulders and down my body. I felt Jeff's stream getting weaker and opened my eyes to see Kevin, Halsey and Todd standing over me. Their dicks were aimed at me. It was like walking into a waterfall. They all started pissing at the same time. I was loving this as my body was thoroughly soaked with all my friend's piss. It was feeling like it had been hours, when I felt the last few drops on my cheek. We were spent. So we headed back to our beers and the flickering red glow of the embers.

A few more logs and our fire was back to roaring. We left the house in such a hurry, we forgot food. We dug into two bags of chips someone remembered to bring. Staring at everyone around the fire, I was trying to figure out how my friends got into fooling around with guys. Did Kevin's love for dick start way before me? From what I saw him doing to Todd, I could only imagine that many asses in my hometown knew of Kevin's dick. And Jeff, that was confusing. His girlfriend and I were really close. Boy, if she ever knew I was blowing her boyfriend! Todd was the biggest surprise of all. When do you realize that getting objects and huge dicks stuffed up your ass, excites you? The thoughts were making me dizzy. But the night was young and I had some ideas of my own.

The fire dried us off quickly. We sat around and talked for another hour or so. Jeff had gone for more firewood. Kevin was still nude and absentmindedly playing with his dick. Halsey had put on his shorts. I sat there nude, feeling the warm heat from the fire on my balls. Todd was still resting and looking pretty worn out. Jeff returned with a couple big logs. This would keep the fire going until we fell asleep (so I thought). Kevin leaned over to me and said, "I'm still so fucking horny. Do you want to fuck?" I was about to say that a little rest was in order, but then I realized that I was the only one who didn't cum that last session.

I barely nodded my head, when Kevin stood up and shoved his monster cock in my face. I didn't even give it a second thought. His dick was down my throat and staying there. Kevin as pretty surprised that I wasn't gagging. I CIDE started slurping away and impressed myself when I felt Kevin's pubic hairs tickle my nose. Kevin started to fuck the back of my throat. Little short jabs that enabled me to breath every now and then. Kevin pulled his dick out of my mouth, grabbed it, and shook it in my face. The more he squeezed his dick, the bigger it seemed to get. He started slapping my face with his dick. "I know you want this back in your mouth, don't you?" Kevin said. I replied with a very wimpy yes. "I think I want to fuck you first." Jeff and Halsey walked over and stood in front of me. Kevin was gracious; I actually heard him spit on his dick before I fainted.

When I woke up, my asshole felt like it was on fire. Getting my bearings, I realized that I had been moved away from the fire. I was tied to the same tree where we had had our way with Todd. I heard and felt Kevin behind me. Even without seeing, I knew that was his dick up my asshole. He was wildly fucking my ass. Now I felt his dick slide in and out of my numbed asshole. He was pulling his dick all the way out, then ramming it back in. I felt his balls hit my ass. He was cumming. His dick felt like it was in my throat. I could actually feel his spunk coating my insides. He continued to fuck me for a couple more minutes. He pulled out fast and I let out a gasp.

Before I could thank him, Halsey took opened his eyes he was smiling. "I'm pissing, I'm pissing up Jeff's hole!" Todd remained in that position for what seemed like an eternity. Todd then pulled his dick out and Jeff walked over to the fire. Jeff turned his ass towards the fire and said, "watch this you guys." All of a sudden, liquid erupted from his hole. He was expelling all of Todd's piss. The fire hissed as Jeff continued this highly erotic spectacle. We were all speechless. Jeff finished, straightened up, and said, "where the fuck you guys think that piss was going to go?"

By now, we were all exhausted. We finished our beers, smoked another Lucky Strike, and crawled into our sleeping bags. The fire was still burning. The logs that Jeff had put out with Todd's piss had now started to burn again. I was content. I went to sleep feeling like a happy camper.

Sleep didn't last long. I was nudged awake by Kevin. He pointed over to Jeff and Halsey. Jeff had his legs wrapped around Halsey's waist and his hands around Halsey's neck. Halsey was holding Jeff's butt with his hands. Jeff had his head back and Halsey was bent over and chewing on Jeff's nipples. They were trying to be quiet but their muffled groans and moans kept us watching. Halsey started to pound Jeff's asshole with his dick. We watched Todd wake up. Once he realized that sex was happening again, he leaped from his sleeping bag and ran up behind Halsey. Now Kevin and I were sitting and watching the festivities.

Todd was fingering Halsey's butt. That didn't last long as Todd replaced his finger with his dick and, once again, rammed it home. That made Halsey fuck Jeff harder. Todd's motions were making Halsey fuck Jeff the same way. Nothing lasted too long with the three of them. Jeff told Halsey to move his head away from his nipples. As Halsey moved his head away, we watched Jeff squirt cum up to his face and chest. Halsey let out a cry and let his cum fly up Jeff's asshole.

Todd pulled out of Halsey's ass, ran around to Jeff and came all over Jeff's face. The scene was hot. I realized that I was jerking off and Kevin was doing the same. We both stood up, and while Halsey was still holding Jeff, both Kevin and I came all over Jeff's face. As drenched as I was with everyone's piss, Jeff's face was completely covered with our cum. It was in his nose, his ears, his hair, and all over his lips. With both hands Kevin scooped all the cum into Jeff's mouth. One big swallow and Jeff was done. Halsey let him down.

Kevin went to the water and came back with more beers, and Todd brought up that we still hadn't really started drinking the Canadian Club. He was right. We passed the bottle around a few times. The liquor had a nice warming effect. Jeff put another log on the fire, and we nestled into our sleeping bags. Re-living all that happened, I jerked off and went to sleep. ■ eyes he was smiling. "I'm pissing, I'm pissing up Jeff's hole!"

Kevin's spot. I knew it was Halsey by the stupid chuckle he always let out when he got excited. He pushed his entire length up my asshole. At this point there was no pain, no pleasure, just a numbing sensation. Halsey came fast and hard. He gave my balls a squeeze and walked away. Jeff appeared out of nowhere and proceeded to untie me. Kevin and Halsey grabbed my arms and lowered me to the ground.

I tried to stand up but my legs were like rubber. "How long was I passed out?" I asked. "About twenty minutes," said Kevin. "We figured you wouldn't mind being tied up" added Halsey. Jeff walked over to me, put his arm around my shoulder and said "Kevin fucked you until you woke up."

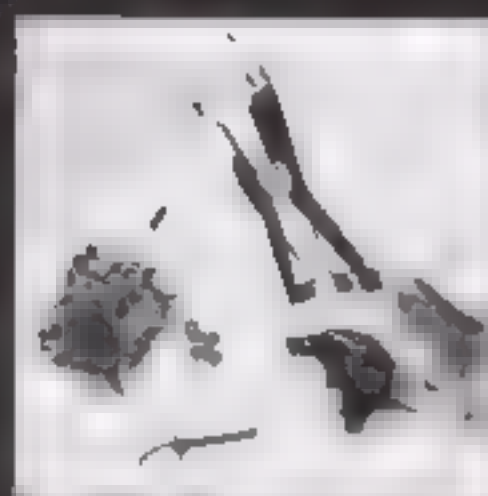

Now I knew why my ass was on fire. Kevin's huge dick up my ass for twenty minutes, humping away like crazy. When I felt stronger I got up and we all walked over to the fire. Todd was up and rubbing his eyes. "What did I miss?" I told him nothing. "We were just sitting around the fire shooting the shit watching you sleep. We shared a quiet smile among the four of us. Todd stood up with a huge hard-on. "I gotta piss bad, I'll be right back." Jeff told Todd to stop. Todd turned around and Jeff said "I want you to piss up my ass." That got everyone's attention. Jeff walked over to Todd, bent over, grabbed his ankles with his hands, and said, "go ahead."

Todd didn't even spit on his dick. With one really hard push, Todd's dick slid all the way in. We were all impressed that Jeff didn't pass out. Todd stood still for about ten seconds with his eyes closed. When he

Gay Film Fest Rejects Sex Club Advertising

The prestigious San Francisco International Lesbian and Gay Film Festival has refused to run in its catalog an advertisement submitted by Eros Center for Safe Sex, a local sex club. According to a front page article in the May 11th Bay Area Reporter, Buzz Bense, the co-director of Eros, was told the decision to reject the ad was made by the the film festival's development department which was concerned about offending corporate sponsors which include the Charles Schwab brokerage firm, Absolut Vodka, Virgin Atlantic, and KRON-TV, which is owned by the San Francisco Chronicle.

Tess Martin, executive director of Frameline, the non-profit organization that organizes the festival, offered a different excuse for the rejection. "It was decided the photo in the ad was questionable" she told the B.A.R. The festival's advertising guidelines forbid sexually explicit images. The photo in the Eros quarter-page ad is a waist-up shot of two bare-chested men locked in a passionate kiss. "I'm still trying to determine what happened," Martin said, "It's not a First Amendment issue, it was done for stylistic reasons." Bense says he was told at the last minute that the ad would not run and was given no time to submit a different layout.

"I strongly dispute this judgement call," Bense told the B.A.R. adding that the decision was based on "sex-phobic and gay male-phobic attitudes. If this was a pho-

Mud Franks The Beets in Antwerp, Belgium will host a huge Mud Party on Saturday, August 26th dedicated to those who love to wallow and slosh about nearly-nude in a rubberized pit filled with mud. Luckily, the called revelers will have access to showers and clothes check. Participation in the Mud Party is restricted to those who pre-register. tograph of Sharon Stone and Kevin Costner, no one would blink an eye."

A second advertiser, The San Francisco AIDS Foundation, was asked to change it's ad which showed two men engaged in a sexy hug. SFAF spokesman Joe Fera told the B.A.R. that the festival returned an ad for SFAF's Third Annual Safer Sex Video Contest to the advertising agency which created it so that the photo could be cropped. The ad agency protested to the festival's organizers saying it felt uncomfortable with their censorship. Fera says changes to the ad were made reluctantly.

Images of men kissing and hugging seem a peculiar thing for a gay and lesbian film festival to censor, leaving some observers to speculate that in the case of Eros, the ad was most likely axed because of it's text. "Find Your Passion" offers the advertisement's headline, followed by the words "play-rooms, slings, backroom maze, shower, sauna, video lounge, massage." It is this aspect which perhaps made the festival's promoters queasy.

Martin apologized to Eros and said Frameline would find another way to publicize the club during the June 9th-17th festival. There is even talk of a festival sponsorship for Eros next year.

Eros, for its part, has always maintained a high advertising profile. The club's facilities are designed like a members-only bathhouse without private rooms. It draws its towel-clad clientele from locals and gay tourists from around the world.

The decision by Frameline to censor advertising is in contrast to the situation the organization faced in 1993. At that time, the printer of the festival's catalog refused

Mexican Gays Fight Back

Twenty homosexuals marched on Monterrey Mexico's city hall on March 25th in protest of what they say is the mayor's open hostility toward the gay community. The protesters say that since mayor Jesus Hinojosa Tijerina of the conservative National Action Party took office, four of the city's five gay bars have been closed. The group also had issues with the police who are said to extort thousands of dollars from men who frequent cruising areas. If the men don't pay, the police threaten to expose them to their families and the newspapers. Others tell stories of police who take jewelry and car stereos, and accompany gays to teller machines, or to their homes, to get money.

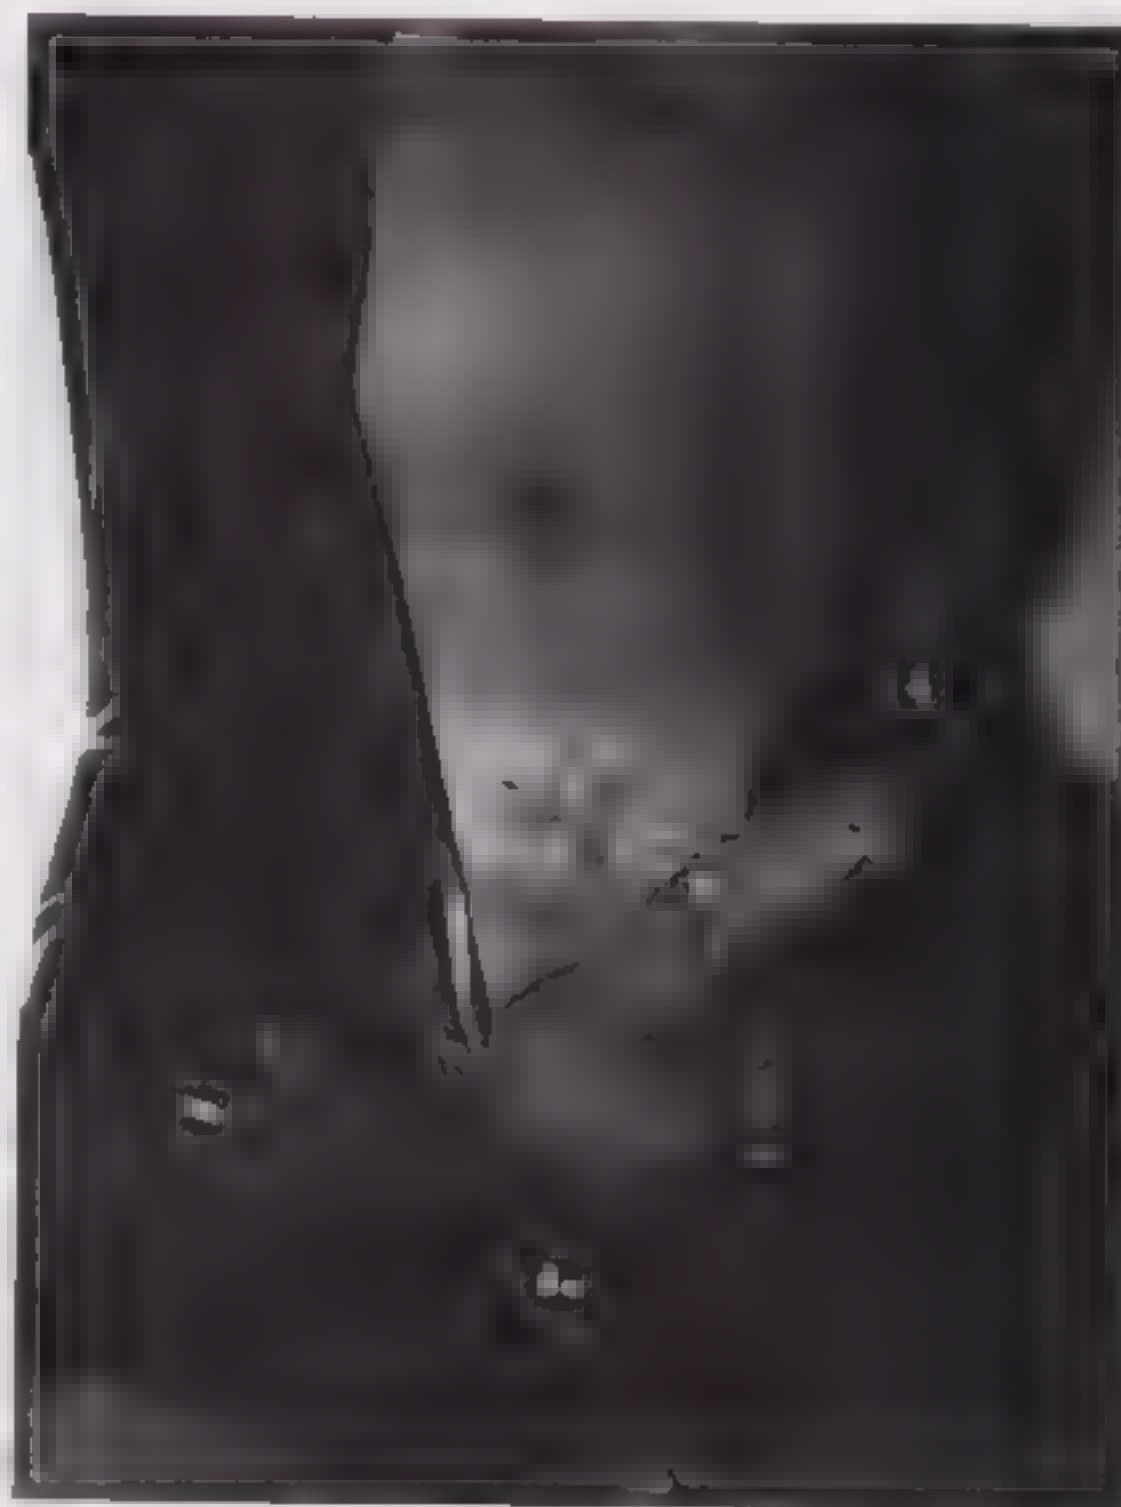

Monterrey, pop. 4 million, is Mexico's second largest city and capital of the state of Nuevo Leon. Located 150 miles south of the Texas border, Monterrey is a large, industrialized and cosmopolitan metropolis. The mayor's indifference to the plight of the entrapped men has fostered a climate of intolerance and homophobia explained Tijuana activist Alejandro Garcia who was at the protest. It has also prompted the community to respond quickly not only with the protest but with a show of activist spirit. Organizers have launched the city's first gay organization, el Colectivo Nancy Cardenas, the first gay newspaper, Montegay, and helped open three new gay bars. Garcia said the protest was part of two days of events that included a conference about homosexuality and religion, and a night of artistic exhibitions and performance.

Gay leaders in Monterrey request faxed protest letters be sent to Nuevo Leon Governor, Socrates Rizo Garcia, at 011-528-344-9199, Mayor Jesus Hinojosa Tijerina at 011-528-345-0154, and the state Human Rights Commission, attention, Dr. Lorenzo de Anda y Anda, at 011-528-344-9199.

Dykes and Fags Get Mad

Twenty gay and lesbian protesters, calling themselves Dykes and Fags Gone Mad, invaded the prestigious Regents Park College of Psychotherapy on April 29th and halted a speech by controversial U.S. psychiatrist Charles Socandes. The group stormed the podium and sprayed Socandes with pink, luminous sticky foam while blowing whistles and fog horns. They chanted, "We're not sick, we don't need healing." Some carried posters reading: Cure

Homophobic Psychotherapists and Mind-Fckers.

Socandes, drenched in pink, was lead away by guards. After 10 minutes, police removed the demonstrators. There were no arrests.

Socandes is a professor at Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York and a leading proponent of therapies designed to turn homosexuals straight. He testified as a medical expert when the US Congress held hearings on gays in the military.

Dykes and Fags Gone

Mad spokesman, Fernando Guasch, told the audience of psychotherapists that Socandes' lecture could not be seen as a mere academic exchange of ideas. "For 35 years this man has fought against equal rights for lesbians and gay men," Guasch said. "He has damaged untold numbers of people. This man's work is part of a political war against the gay community. For this man to be invited to speak by prestigious British psychotherapeutic institutions is an insult to lesbian and gay people."

Gay Discrimination Banned in Poland

The decision by the committee drafting Poland's new constitution to ban discrimination based on sexual orientation has provoked heated opposition, reports the Warsaw Voice. "Does this mean that intercourse with animals or a corpse will also be protected?" asked Wladyslaw Kulesza, President Lech Walesa's representative on the parliamentary committee, before storming out of the April 11th meeting in which the decision was made.

Catholic Bishop Tadeusz Pieronek called the plan "an example leading toward extremes which cannot be accepted by any normal society." And Christian-Nation Union party President Ryszard Czarnecki objected: "This is a first step leading to growing demands of these people. The next step would be accepting deviations such as pedophilia or zoophilia."

Gay activists seemingly have embraced the old notion that there's no such thing as bad press. "This is a real psychological breakthrough" said Piotr Brudacki, president of Lambda Warsaw. "We want people to see that we do exist." The constitutional committee voted 16 to

No Pain No Gain "Some people enjoy pain — for others there is Relian." This is the slogan the painkiller Relian uses in its advertisement which appeared in a recent issue of the Dutch magazine Avance. The ad is a double page spread. It features a black and white photograph of a man and a woman in SM gear, lit clamps and all, on the left page, and a small box of Relian painkillers in full color on the right. The photo of the couple was taken by Oliver Haasch, who told International Drummer that the idea was to portray a taboo theme.

One More Photo Op?

U.S. Vice President Al Gore and his wife Tipper had 150 gay activists over to their house on March 3. Gore told the officers and members of the Human Rights Campaign Fund: "It's a wonderful to do what you're doing, and that's devoting your lives to others. This dedication is an outgrowth of the way you live your entire lives."

Mrs. Gore said: "We very deeply share your vision of a society that is fair and free of discrimination for gay and lesbian people, and we want you to know that." A pianist played show tunes as the group nibbled from a buffet.

DC street activist Michael Petrelis was not impressed. "Who cares about invitations to the Gores residence? It is nothing more than a symbolic bone being thrown HRCF's way. I want an AIDS strategy from the administration, government funded TV ads targeting gay youth to avoid AIDS, and (government AIDS head) Anthony Fauci put on the unemployment line. We don't need any more photo-ops."

Brit Cops Pay Price

British police agreed to pay £2500 each to 15 participants of a leather party raided on May, 1993, in compensation for their wrongful arrest and detention. According to a report in Capital Gay, a London-based publication, the police said the raid was prompted by an anonymous tip that the host's house was being used to fence stolen property. Although once inside the house, the police realized the tip was false, they went ahead and arrested a total of 36 gay men. They also seized leather and rubber wear which they described as sexual apparatus and clothing.

Although no charges were brought against them, the men retained a solicitor, Angus Hamilton, and initiated civil proceedings. "Angus helped us stick to our guns," one party goer told Capital Gay. "Even when the police lost their tempers and started to abuse us." The police agreed to the financial settlement on condition that they would not have to make any further comment on the case.

Countless Possibilities At Hyatt

An upscale suburb in the naval town of San Diego is home to a marketing tempest that targets gay consumers. The Hyatt Regency La Jolla is focusing on gays with a direct mailing and an ad in Out magazine. The Out ad and the direct mailer are similar to other Hyatt ads except the models are two bronzed, blow-dried, thirty something, yuppie men smiling at each other. The ad states: "Two people. One special place. Countless possibilities. Explore those possibilities together at the Hyatt Regency La Jolla."

A source at the gay travel newsletter Out & About said that the campaign "ruffled a few feathers at Hyatt headquarters" but other California Hyatts may nonetheless follow suit. The La Jolla Hyatt's director of sales Judy Cronkhite explained, "We look at this market as no different from any other target market. I'm a little uncomfortable talking to you," she said. "We're not trying to get publicity from this and we're not trying to be anything different other than making smart business decisions. We felt it just made good business sense and have really wanted to stay away from any publicity about it."

Cronkhite said the hotel did not want to be perceived as "exploiting itself," which she said meant the hotel did not target gays in order to generate publicity. "There are companies that may exploit their position in the gay market because it is something new, and that's what we are trying to be extremely careful about," she said. "This is a business decision and we're not looking to exploit ourselves as being innovative or anything like that."

Romanian Sex Change On Prime Time

Romanian newspapers and television reported the nation's first sex-change operation April 27 complete with gory pictures of severed genitalia.

The penis and testes of 19-year-old Sorin Ratiu were shown to cameras by Bucharest surgeons who worked eight hours to make him into Sorina. State TV news showed the operation in detail. A week earlier, a court in Transylvania ok'd the operation for fear Ratiu might otherwise mutilate or kill himself.

Canada's Consent Law Unconstitutional

Canadian Federal Court Justice Barbara Reed ruled last month that the higher age of consent for anal sex between men was unconstitutional because it discriminated against gays. In its defense, the government claimed the law was needed to slow HIV transmission. The ruling came in the case of an American, Henry Halm, who fled to Canada to avoid prosecution for having sex with teenage boys in New York. Halm thought he'd be safe because he thought Canada's age of consent was 14 and because Canada does not deport people if the crime they committed elsewhere is not also a crime in Canada. But in fact, Canada's age of consent was 14 for oral and vaginal sex but 18 for anal sex.

Chocolate Nipple Clamps

Gay men are enjoying a whole new breed of sexual fetishes.

By Marcus-Jay Wonacott

Looking around your favorite leather bar or club, you don't just see leather anymore. It's very different from the 1970s when club's like New York's Mineshaft, Los Angeles' One Way and San Francisco's Ambush were popular. Today, latex and rubber play a big part in making a gay social and sexual statement. All those leather chaps, shirts, and vests are now interpreted in rubber. Spilling out of back pockets are dozens of colored handkerchiefs indicating fetishes beyond even my comprehension. A variety of uniforms from across the world, as well as across time barriers, are now commonplace in the gay male's mating ritual. The costumes range from ancient Rome, to East German military, to Scottish kilts. Lest we forget, there is the non-leather grunge attire sported by the young kinky crowd.

Some of my "old guard" pals claim that, in the earlier days, our leather community was a lot simpler. You know, tops were tops and bottoms were bottoms. Period. Our dress was leather and Levis. There was a camaraderie among us. And, although we had fewer rules and standards, we did not DARE break or cross any of them.

Over the past ten years, the leather community has changed. Due to AIDS, many experienced SM players disappeared. Techniques and traditions have been lost. Those of us who are still alive are forced to turn our attention and energy towards AIDS fund raising and the care of friends and loved ones.

With very little structure in place (or mentors), younger men just coming out into the world of kink set out on their own. The leather community witnessed the emergence of new techniques and unfamiliar fetishes. Even the roles, traditional to the leather community, were discarded. What emerged was a new breed of kinky player who, although engaging in practices similar to the rest of us, had a fashion all his own. "Leather" no longer describes our new sexual fantasies, "fetish" is now more accurate.

Unfortunately, many of us in the older leather community did not know how to deal with or include these younger men. For some leather men, the changes were difficult if not impossible to absorb. Conversely, the younger men did not want anything to do with our SM rules and regulations. Both sides reached a stalemate.

Only recently have I seen a gradual mixing of these opposing camps.

Nowadays, many guys (myself included), rather than pigeon-holing themselves into specific roles, identify as switches. I have added a few pieces of latex to my leathers, started wearing my keys through the back-center belt loop and increased the spectrum of my hankie collection.

It looks like we now have some public acceptance of many of these new fetishes and kinky activities. And who knows? Maybe someday my personal favorite fetish will come into vogue: dark chocolate nipple clamps. If you can get them on me, you can eat them off! So, I guess time has a way of working things out.
